Improving intensive care...

...learning from experience for the benefit of future patients.

This intensive care unit participates in a national audit called the Case Mix Programme.

This audit provides feedback on treatments and results to help this unit make the best decisions about treating future patients.

Staff collect information on treatment and results for every patient admitted to this unit. These data are then analysed by an independent organisation.

This intensive care unit uses the results of the audit to help improve care for all patients.

Opting out
All patients have the right to opt out of audit using personal information for the purpose described here. To do so please contact us in writing at the postal address or email address below, or by telephoning:
